This notice may be supplemented with any new significant facts learned subsequent to its submission. By providing this notice, Saint Xavier University (“SXU”) does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Maine law, the applicability of the Maine data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

On July 21, 2023, SXU became aware of potential suspicious activity within certain computer systems. Accordingly, SXU quickly took steps to contain the suspicious activity, confirm the security its systems, and with the assistance of external cybersecurity specialists, initiated a comprehensive investigation to determine the full nature, scope, and impact of the activity. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor downloaded certain files stored on limited SXU systems between June 29 and July 18, 2023. In light of this unauthorized access, SXU conducted a thorough and time-consuming review of the identified data to determine what information was present and to whom it related for purposes of assessing potential notification obligations. Once the preliminary results of this review were identified, significant efforts were required to enrich necessary address information and reconcile the records to further the notification assessment and process. SXU worked diligently to complete these efforts, and on August 26, 2024, all such efforts were completed. Thereafter SXU continued its diligent efforts, working to notify identified individuals as quickly as possible.

The information that could have been subject to unauthorized access varies by individual and includes name, Social Security number, and financial account information.

Notice to Maine Residents

On or about October 30, 2024, SXU began providing written notice of this incident to affected individuals, which includes twenty-two (22) Maine residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon learning the event, SXU moved quickly to investigate and respond to the incident, assess and confirm the security of SXU systems, and identify potentially affected individuals. SXU also promptly notified federal law enforcement regarding the matter. Additionally, SXU continues to review and, where necessary, enhance its existing policies and procedures relating to data protection and security, and has implemented additional technical and administrative safeguards and training to its employees. Further, as an added measure, SXU is also providing access to credit monitoring services for twelve (12) months, through IDX, a ZeroFox company, to individuals whose personal information was potentially affected by this incident, at no cost to these individuals.

What Happened? In July 2023, we became aware of potential suspicious activity within our computer systems. Accordingly, we quickly took steps to contain the activity, confirm the security our systems, and begin a comprehensive investigation to determine the full nature, scope, and impact of the activity. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor downloaded certain files stored on limited SXU systems between June 29 and July 18, 2023. In light of this unauthorized access, we conducted a thorough and time-consuming review of the identified data to determine what information was present and to whom it related for purposes of assessing potential notification obligations. Once the preliminary results of this review were identified, significant efforts were required to enrich necessary address information to further the notification assessment and process. These efforts recently concluded, and you are receiving this notification because our investigation identified that your information was present in the relevant data.

What Information Was Involved? The investigation determined that the files involved in this matter included your name, <<data elements>>.

What We Are Doing. We take this matter and the security of information in our care seriously. Upon first learning of the activity, we quickly responded, and have been working diligently to provide you with an accurate and complete notice. Further, as part of our ongoing commitment to the privacy and security of personal information in our care, we continue to review and, where necessary, enhance our existing policies and procedures relating to data protection and security. We have also implemented additional security measures to mitigate risk associated with this incident and to help minimize the reoccurrence of a similar future incident. We are also providing notice of this incident to potentially impacted individuals and to relevant regulatory authorities, as required.

As an added measure, we are providing you with <<CM length>> months of complimentary access to credit monitoring services through IDX, a ZeroFox company, as well as guidance on how to better protect your information, should you feel it is appropriate to do so. Although we are covering the cost of these services, due to privacy restrictions, you will need to complete the activation process yourself.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
