RECOMMENDED STEPS FOR IDENTITY THEFT PROTECTION

Review Your Credit Reports. We recommend that you review your account statements and monitor your credit reports. Under federal law, you are entitled to one free copy of your credit report from each of the three major credit reporting companies every 12 months. To obtain a free annual credit report, go to www.annualcreditreport.com or call 877-322-8228. You may wish to stagger your requests so that you receive a free report from one of the three credit bureaus every four months.

You may file a police report if you experience identity fraud. Please note that in order to file a crime or incident report with law enforcement for identity theft, you will likely need to provide some form of evidence. A police report is often required to dispute fraudulent matters with banks, creditors, retailers and other organizations. You can report suspected incidents of identity theft to local law enforcement or to the Attorney General's office in your home state.

Place Fraud Alerts with the three credit bureaus. If you choose to place a fraud alert, we recommend you do this after activating your credit monitoring. You can place a fraud alert at one of the three major credit bureaus by phone and also via Experian's or Equifax's website. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you, before they open new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you but may cause delay when seeking to obtain credit.

It is necessary to contact only one of these bureaus and use only one of these methods to place a fraud alert. When one of the three bureaus confirms your fraud alert, the others are notified to place alerts on their records as well. You will receive confirmation letters in the mail. An initial fraud alert will last for one year. No one is allowed to place a fraud alert on your credit report except you.

Security Freeze. By placing a security freeze, someone who acquires your personally identifiable information will not be able to use that information to open new accounts or borrow money in your name without taking additional steps that will help keep them from being successful. Unlike a fraud alert, you will need to contact each of the three national credit reporting bureaus listed above to place the freeze. Keep in mind that when you place the freeze, you will not be able to borrow money, obtain instant credit, or get a new credit card until you temporarily lift or permanently remove the freeze. There is no cost to freeze or unfreeze your credit files.
